

Tsalila O-fish-al Booster Club

It takes lots of volunteers, year-round planning, and donations to put on the Tsalila Education Days and Festival for thousands of students and families each year. Many heart-felt thanks go to all the people, organizations and businesses that make it happen.

“As a former educator, my spirits were lifted watching nearly 2,000 second through fifth grade students visit Tsalila. With schools at bare bones budgets, it was wonderful that their Tsalila Experience was free. I watched kids, parents, and teachers as they became involved in all the activities. Eyes sparkled and minds churned. Thanks need to go to all the sponsors, partners, exhibitors and helpers who made Tsalila a success. It is a major asset to our community and a wonderful education opportunity for all our children (and most of us adults).” - Barbara Mills, retired teacher of Reedsport Schools, 2004
