

TSALILA:

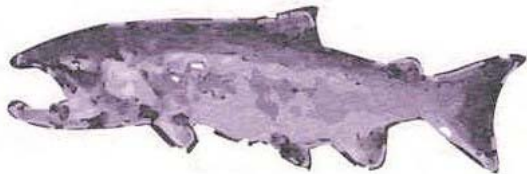

2006

The Umpqua River Festival

Reedsport, Oregon

September 23, 10AM-5PM

September 24, 11AM-4PM

Salmon Dinner
Music and Entertainment
Exhibits and Activities

Tsalila (sa-LEE-la) is a family-oriented, education-based, watershed festival that is free and open to the public. Most of the exhibits have a hands-on activity for children, or the kid in all of us.

The Tsalila Festival features a number of exhibits and displays (see reverse side). During your child's school field trip he or she was only able to visit six of these stations. We encourage you to return with the whole family during the weekend festival and see all of Tsalila's exhibits, displays, and activities.
